THE RECORD.

On the 21st of December, 1857, the "Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Utah" unanimously passed a set of resolutions which very fully indicated the feeling of this body, and the community towards the Government. They were signed by Kimball, Wells, and six of the "Twelve" who were then members of the Utah Legislature, and were published in the Deseret News of December 23d, 1857. The following is one of the resolutions:

Resolved, That, while we deprecate the hostile feeling manifested towards a peaceful and innocent people by the present Administration of the Government, we will continue to resist any attempt on the part of the Administration to bring us into a state of servitude by appealing to the Constitution, officers whom the people have neither voted nor voice in choosing; nor shall any persons appointed in office for Utah by the present Administration, or any of its branches, or any of its officers, within the limits of this Territory, the possession of the office to which they have been appointed, so long as our Territory is harassed by an invading army.

Yet the true object of the United States forces was known two months before the passage of the above resolutions when Brigham Young had received a letter from Col. Alexander, Commanding the "Army for Utah," dated Hama Fork, Oct. 18th, 1857, in which he used the following language, as reported in the Deseret News of January 19th, 1858:

I desire now, sir, to lay before you the following facts: the forces under my command were ordered by the President of the United States to establish a post at or near Salt Lake City. They set out upon their long and arduous march, anticipating a reception similar to that which they would receive in any other State or Territory in the Union. They were met at the boundary of the Territory of which you are Governor, and in which capacity alone I have any business with you, by a Proclamation, signed by yourself, forbidding them to come upon soil belonging to the United States, and calling upon the inhabitants to resist them with arms.

You have ordered them to return, and have called upon them to deliver up their arms in default of obeying your mandate.

You have resorted to open hostilities, and of a kind, permit me to say, very far beneath the usages of civilized warfare, by authorizing persons under your control, some of the very citizens, doubtless, whom you have called to arms, to burn the grain, apparently with the intention of starving a few boats, and to destroy a few houses.

Citizens of Utah, acting, I am bound to believe, under your authority, have destroyed trains containing public stores, with a similar humane intention of starving the army.

Brigham Young answers this letter under date of Oct. 15th, 1857, and in it makes use of the following language:

If you persist in your attempts to permanently locate an army in this Territory contrary to the wishes and Constitutional rights of the people therein, and with a view to aid the Administration in their unallowable efforts to palm their corrupt officials upon us, and to protect them, and blacklegs, black hearted scoundrels, whoresmasters and murderers, as was the case in sending you and your troops here, you will have to meet a mode of warfare against which your tactics furnish you no information.

As to your obeying 'orders,' my official counsel to you, would be for you to stop and reflect, and then, Davy Crockett like, go ahead. But if you undertake to come here and build forts, rest assured that you will be opposed and that you will need all the force now under your command and much more.

By virtue of my office as Governor of the Territory of Utah, I command you to marshal your troops and leave this Territory.

Now to show that cant was a favorite game with the Polygamous organs in those days, read the following extract from an editorial in the Deseret News of Jan. 13th, 1858, the very number that contained the above correspondence and another set of resolutions from the Utah Legislature similar to those from which we have already made extracts. In speaking of the President's Proclamation, it says:

He closes his outrageously treasonable and murderous article as follows: 'The authority of the Federal Government should, at whatever hazard, be maintained in Utah, as elsewhere, without fear or favor.'

Poor fellow, he had better vacate his easy tripod, get tapped for the shallows, and then learn, if he can, to let those matters alone, which he knows nothing about, and by all means divert himself of that spirit of murder by which he is possessed. Miserable ignoramus, neither you nor any person can point to a time when the authority of the Federal Government has not been more respected and better maintained in Utah than in any other part of the Union.

Indian Troubles in the Territories.

In the last number of the American Journal of Mining, we find a most sensible article on the subject of Indian affairs, from which we make the following extract. It is really refreshing to see such sentiment promulgated in a New York Journal, after listening to the trouble of a large class of the writers of that city, who argue that because some unprincipled character sends a party from an Indian tribe, it justifies them in murdering hundreds of innocent women and children. The Indian will be wronged. No man of men since Adam has ever lived without suffering some injustice, and it is right that those wronged should be satisfied, but we do object to their being made the victims of an indiscriminate slaughter among our scattered frontier settlements.

It appears that in all the Western territories, save Washington and Utah, Indian warfare is being waged. That the white very often give the offense, is admitted, from the evidence of the American Journal of Mining, but there is a still larger evidence, to be found in the fact that the Indians are a conquering, warlike and cruel race, and are a little for the latter as for the spirit of any treaty. In fact the more our government shows a disposition to treat with them, the more are they disposed to take advantage of it. All this record of hostilities transpired at the same time that the Government commission was reporting "favorable progress" in treaty-making at Fort Laramie! These Indians think of much of treaties as the paper they are written on, and as such, and no more. Can they make them any more? Let us hope of war is the only earnest upon all Indian tribes that have, in any way, broken treaty stipulations. Give them enough of it to last their whole lives, and those of their children after them. They, and not till then, can the Indians show and security in all parts of our country.

The Presidential Party in New York.

Speeches of the President, Mayor Hoffman and Secretary Seward.

Negotiations Between Napoleon and the Emperor Charlotte.

The Cholera Abating in St. Louis and Cincinnati.

London, Aug. 20.—Noon. Consols opened at 89, for money; five-twentieths opened at 72.

Liverpool, Aug. 29.—Noon. Cotton opened, middling uplands, at 13 1/2 @ 13 3/4.

An arrival here reports having seen the Great Eastern on the 19th.

London, Aug. 29. The Morning Post says Napoleon has extended the time for the French evacuation of Mexico to January.

New York, Aug. 29. Cotton is without a decided change; flour twenty lower, wheat 2 1/2c lower. Money easy, sterling dull and heavy. Government firm and quiet. Business in Wall street is almost wholly suspended.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29. Presidential party left here at 7 A. M. Gen. Meade accompanying them to New York.

General Butterfield arrived here last night as a representative of the Citizens' Committee of New York.

New York, Aug. 29. Presidential party arrived, via Jersey City, at a little past 1 o'clock P. M., and were received by Mayor Hoffman and members of the Mayor's Council and the military.

The Mayor made a brief speech of welcome, which was briefly responded to. The procession moved to City Hall where, in the Governor's room, the formal reception took place. Subsequently there was a review of the military by President Johnson, after which an immense procession moved through Broadway to Delmonico's, and at six o'clock there will be a grand banquet.

Broadway and all public, and many private residences, and all foreign and domestic shipping are gaily decorated with flags and streamers, and large crowds of people in the streets, more than since the arrival of the remains of the late President Lincoln. Thus far all has gone smooth, the weather being propitious.

The President will be serenaded at 10 o'clock in front of the Delmonico's, and if not too weary will make an address.

St. Louis, Aug. 29. The cemeteries report 92 cholera interments yesterday; a decrease of thirteen from the day before.

Cincinnati, Aug. 29. The Board of Health yesterday, in view of the abatement of the cholera, resolved that they would only meet once a month hereafter; none of the sanitary regulations are removed however.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 29. The State Senate, being in extra session for the trial of Judge Smith, of which Mr. Saw offered a resolution that the Senate on behalf of the people of the State of New York, welcome the President, General Grant and Admiral Farragut. Senator Thomas Murphy moved to insert the name of William H. Seward; lost.

London, Aug. 29.—Eve. Consols closed at 89 1/2, for money; five-twentieths at 72.

A Paris correspondent to the Morning Post states that the Empress Charlotte has as she succeeded in her mission in behalf of Maximilian as to obtain from the Emperor of France an extension of time in which to pay the French Government the ten million francs due, but Napoleon refused to loan Max. ten million francs to pay for the equipment of the troops in Mexico, but will assist in such equipment by furnishing material from French magazines.

The Empress also obtained from Napoleon the extension of time until next January for the evacuation of French troops from Mexico.

Liverpool, Aug. 29.—Eve. Cotton closed, middling uplands, 13 1/2 @ 13 3/4; sales 10,000 bales; breadstuffs declining; provisions unchanged, excepted lard which has advanced tendency.

Paris, Aug. 29.—Eve. Current rumors in relation to Mexican matters are very conflicting; the most probable reports appear to be that the Empress Charlotte will return to Mexico, and that a French General is to command the Mexican troops organized by Maximilian. The name of the General is not stated.

New York, Aug. 29. Mayor Hoffman, in his welcome to the President at the City Hall said:

The city of New York, which now greets you has never followed to her devotion to the Union and Constitution, and never will. It is the metropolis of the country, and when it speaks it does not speak in whispers or after chamberlains' sounds. It speaks to-day, and I trust this great demonstration, in which capital and labor have both united, will show your heart and strengthen your hand in the great work of peace and restoration in which you are engaged.

I will detain you no longer. The people are anxious to greet you. Their officers will speak more eloquently than most words. I am, gentlemen, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
John Hoffman.

The President, in his address to the people, said:

To make reply to you, I have been given permission to make a few remarks. I have been very much interested in the reception which you have given me, and I have been very much interested in the reception which you have given me.

At the conclusion of the President's remarks he was greeted with three times three cheers.

Loud calls were then made for Secretary Seward, who said:

I feel that I am at home, and I thank you for the welcome you have extended. (Applause.) I feel more than that, for I have brought with me to you and my home the President of the United States (Cheers.) United by the arms of our heroes, by the virtue of our citizens and by the wisdom and energy of our Chief Magistrate, if anything is wanting it is the cordials which we look for at the coming of the day to bear us out in our opinions that the United States should consist of thirty-five instead of twenty-five States. (Great applause.) In the city and State of New York the people should be faithful first to their wives, then to their children, then to their city and State, and then to the country. To this principle I adhere, and if persons were to interfere with me in faithfully carrying out this principle I could overbalance them and still be faithful to the country. (Great cheering.) After the address, the Mayor presented city officials and citizens, which continued about an hour.

The procession of the party up Broadway was a magnificent one. Every available space was occupied by the assembled thousands. Boquets were showered down by handbuds. The cheers which greeted Gen. Grant and Admiral Farragut were especially noticeable.

Arrived at Delmonico's, the party reviewed a division of troops, and the President was called upon to speak, but declined to make one, saying:

None is needed after the demonstration which has been made to-day. I leave the Constitution and Union in your hands.

The party was afterwards entertained at dinner by a few privileged citizens, which was continued till a late hour of the night.

The party leaves at an early hour for West Point, riding through Central Park and taking a special steamer at Manhattanville.

How an Ardent Youth of La Crosse was Beaten out of a Wife and Twenty-five Cents.

(From the La Crosse Democrat.)

These came off, before Police Justice Hubbard, in this city, a singular law suit, growing out of the following particulars:

Charles Morand and Robert W. Undine, two young men about twenty-five years of age, have for some months been courting a young lady. The men grew jealous of each other, and each strove to win the girl to consent to a marriage. But she could not decide which to have. Sunday night of last week, the two men were sitting on the porch talking with the girl, when a dispute arose between them, which was the shortest route to North La Crosse—Morand tying by the depot. Undine claiming by the wagon road. They referred the matter to the girl, who laughingly replied that the best way to decide was to walk there and back, each by his route, when they could decide which was the quickest, and as there was but little difference in the distance, she could know who was the smartest man. And she playfully added, "Go, noble knights, and he who first returns shall claim my hand in marriage."

Each man started, Morand disappearing around the corner by the depot route, Undine around the other corner, to go by the wagon road. When Undine had walked about a 40 minute walk on a dark night, he was made still better by seeing Morand, coolly sitting on the porch, where he had been for 35 minutes, as he only stepped around the corner and returned, preferring sitting with the young lady to walking three miles over railroad ties. After some hard words, Undine told the girl to go to a hotter place than La Crosse, and left the house. He brought suit against the girl to recover pay for the following bill of goods, which will be had presented her, while she is in her. We copy the bill from the court records:

One gold ring $5.00
One fancy pair of earrings 3.00
One pair white kid gloves 3.00
One best confectiionary 2.50
Total $13.50

On the trial, Augustine Cameron appeared for the prosecution, and "Brick" Pottery, by particular request, for the defense, under whose instructions the young lady presented a bill as follows:

To keepen off 7 months $ 3.00
To rent of parlor for speaking 10.00
To confectiionary eaten by plaintiff 75

Total $13.75

After a rather amusing trial, during which the plaintiff admitted that she stole the girl, the court gave a verdict of 25 cents, and costs against the plaintiff. His honor, Mayor Levy, Judge Washburn, ex-Mayor Fleyd, and several of our prominent business men were in attendance out of curiosity, and were much amused at the proceedings. A number of the witnesses on the part of the defense, as to cost of transport, worth of room, &c., &c., were not heard. The cost of the suit amounted to $13.50. Undine then said a smart city girl.

The Auditor of the Post Office Department is still engaged in having the longest list of names of the Southern States to settle their accounts with the Government. There yet remains to be settled about $100,000.
